

Just when you thought it was safe to go back in the water... again...

Announcing

THE 6th ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT BAY MARITIME FESTIVAL
QUICK AND DIRTY BOAT BUILDING COMPETITION

New Date! → August 29th 2009 ← New Date!

Dear boat builder, would be boat builder, water rat or boat bum,
The sixth Annual Quick and Dirty Boat Building Competition is coming this August 29th 2009. Dust off those tools, sharpen a pencil, and start designing your entry for another fun filled Quick and Dirty Boatbuilding Competition at the Commencement Bay Maritime Festival. This entertaining event for the festival pits boat builders from around the area in a boatbuilding competition using limited time and resources. Last year we had beautiful weather and 14 entries, setting a record for us.

Tacoma Outboard Association and the Sea Scouts once again did a fine job of dragging everyone and everything back to the beach. Thanks folks!

This year, once again, we will have some changes to the race course and a new mystery material We'll let you know about those at the festival. As before, the previous year's winner must drag a bucket
in the water behind their boat on a 5 foot
tether (bucket and tether supplied by us).

This year we were going to increase the entry fee to $75.00 but due to the economy we decided to keep it at $50.00.
Such a deal!

The contest is meant to be a fun and enjoyable event for all parties involved and lets the public see what people can do. What a great opportunity for you to show off your skills and show up the competition.

Please look over the enclosed set of rules, fill out the entry form and mail it in before August 10th, and then get busy gathering your team and designing the boat you know will win!. We're looking forward to seeing you August 29th on the dock!

Feel free to copy this packet and pass it on to a friend.

Very Best Regards,
Joe & Paul
